Re: Rosinek v. Psychiatric Solutions, Inc. et al.
Case No. 3-10-cv-00534

Dear Gerard:

I write on behalf of all of the defendants ("Defendants") in the above-captioned proceeding and to follow up on your recent discussions with John Hicks.

We understand that you intend to oppose Defendants' motion seeking to stay the Tennessee federal court proceedings in favor of more advanced Delaware state court proceedings. To avoid any misunderstanding about Defendants' position and to seek common ground, we write to advise you that Defendants would not oppose your intervention in the Delaware proceedings should you decide to proceed in that way. In the event that you intervene in Delaware, Defendants are willing to produce to you all of the documents that have been or will be produced in the Delaware action, and, assuming that appropriate arrangements can be made to avoid duplicative questioning, Defendants would be amenable to your participation in the depositions in the Delaware action. Needless to say, if you intervene in Delaware, we would expect you to withdraw your opposition to our motion to stay in Tennessee.

Please let us hear from you.
